

Andrea García Flores // The plant life cycle starts all over again

Intrusive thoughts are unwanted, unintended thoughts, images or unpleasant ideas that can become obsessions and can be difficult to manage or eliminate. The life plant cycle starts all over again is a two-voice reading exercise where these thoughts are interrupted, found, disappear and at the same time desperately seeking meaning. Life, death and what is left in the middle. With illustrations by Andrea García Flores (Tampico, 1991).
