TheKnowledge Peer learning for digital strategy in culture

TheKnowledge is a wiki based publishing project helping cultural workers to share know-how on digital strategy. TheKnowledge promotes peer learning to help arts organisations and individual producers make intelligent and appropriate use of digital tools and platforms. It focuses equally on creative and organisational dimensions of cultural production and enables people to share their hard-earned experiences and research in a larger project of collaboration and understanding. Sections in TheKnowledge represent key topics in digital strategy at any given moment, and will be kept under review. Present topics are: Publishing, Video, Archiving, Open Source, Audio, Gaming, Community & Social Media.
