

Resonances I: Food

This book, an "art book on food", is based on material gathered during RESONANCES I, an ad-hoc project organized by the Joint Research Centre of the European Commission at the occasion of the Universal Exhibition EXPO 15: Feeding the Planet, Energy for Life, held in Milan.

The material gathered during the festival has been deconstructed and reconstructed into a new narrative that evokes the need of considering food not only as a mere scientific, technical and commercial matter of fact but also as a social, cultural and political matter of concern.
